

Journey's Hands

Words & Music
Elia Wise & Scott DeTurk
Copyright 2017

An adventure is a series of events –
Challenging perhaps,
And sometimes quite intense ...
Chosen to excite or entertain –
Sometimes for the pleasure,
Sometimes for the pain.

But a journey is a search for what is true,
For a truth that's only yours to pursue.
As events unfold,
The story being told
Has meanings that are meant for only you.

That's a journey.
Sometimes you're lost.
Sometimes you have to burn
The bridges you have crossed.

Sometimes you barely
Have both feet on the ground
And you outgrow the beliefs
That you've just found.

That's a journey.
You feel your way.
Sometimes there are no words
That you can find to say.

To explain the calling
Or declare where you land,
Or assure your dear ones
When they just don't understand
That you're in journey's hands.

And a journey will reveal what you're about
As you navigate your way around your doubt.
Until your soul is what you're wearing on the outside,
And you're living your whole life inside out.

That's a journey.
Sometimes you're found,
And you stand firmly
On the bridge to higher ground.

You trust the calling.
You declare where you land.
You assure your dear ones
When they just don't understand
That you're in journey's hands.

An adventure is a series of events,
But a journey is a search for what is true.
When you don't know where you are,
Trust your guiding star
To show you the way ...
Back to you.